The clients' new "Blue House" was regarded as an eyesore among the neighbors, much in need of updating. This young family fell in love with the layout of the mid-century modern home and brought a fresh look to the neighborhood. Exterior cladding was upgraded to cedar sheathing, horizontal fiber cement sheathing, and ledge cut dry stack stone, to create a unique modern look that neighbors have thanked the owners for. New sliding doors and expansion of the existing decks make this home more functional for a young family.
