The overall objective of this project was to transform this outdated, closed off kitchen to an updated, more open floor plan by removing the wall between the kitchen and family room. The new space ties seamlessly into the existing first floor design and gave this couple a more functional kitchen with great storage and an awesome layout for entertaining. By introducing unique design features in the island and range, while also keeping classic elements such as the countertop and back splash, we were able to create a timeless space that the homeowners will enjoy for years to come!
