What is your Company Culture? August 26 Pre-Lunch Workshop with National Speaker!

All-In Culture Workshop runs from 9:30 to 10:45 at the Doubletree by Hilton--Workshop Fee $30

Culture. It is the driving force in organizations that attracts great talent with less turnover, creates alignment within your team and ultimately affects the bottom line of your company.

Are you ready to take a deep dive into viewing your culture? If you don't know where to start or you need help prioritizing your focus, join Gail Hermesch in her workshop, All-In Culture.

- Do your employees come to work ready to roll up their sleeves and be the best version of themselves?
- Are they innovative and willing to share new ideas?
- Do they collaborate on a daily basis with little conflict?
- Is your company thriving the way you imagined it would be in 2021?

Lunch Keynote: Greatness Lies Within

Can you identify in your employees:

- What they bring to the table for your company, i.e., predictability, balance, decisiveness, etc.
- The best way to communicate with each individual
- What motivates this individual to give 100%?
- What actions, traits or situations that will upset this individual and cause loss of production

- What this individual needs from the company/management to produce
- Some traits that may be good/bad for their position and may cause conflict with others

Gail Hermesch, Strategic Impact, certified leadership consultant and coach, will take you through a "LIVE" coaching session that offers employees the opportunity to identify and build upon their attributes. For the past 15 years Gail has worked as a certified leadership consultant and coach helping organizations drive positive and productive cultures.

The President's Message

"Adhere to your purpose and you will soon feel as well as you ever did. On the contrary, if you falter, and give up, you will lose the power of keeping any resolution, and will regret it all your life."
Abraham Lincoln, June 28, 1862

I love watching the Olympics. I often find myself even watching events that normally would not interest me. There is something about these Olympic athletes. I think it's their personal stories that are so enticing.

The other night I watched as two high jumpers (not a sport I'd normally watch) shared a gold medal after both achieved the same height but neither could clear the next height. As the judge asked one of the competitors if they wanted to do a "jump off" for the gold medal, one competitor asked if they could share the medal instead? The judge agreed and both men embraced as gold medal Olympians. I couldn't understand why two competitors, one from Qatar and the other from Italy, would agree to share a medal.

As it turns out, the Italian competitor broke his ankle days before the 2016 Olympic games and was unable to compete. He was even told he may not ever be able to compete by a doctor. The other competitor from Qatar injured his ankle in 2018, so he knew of the struggle to get back to an elite level. Apparently these two men had also known each other for 20 years and even trained together.

In the interviews afterwards, these men talked about their willingness to share the gold medal. It was the admiration and respect of the perseverance that each athlete saw in one another. They worked hard for several years to get to these games and overcame many challenges along the way. I would guess there are many more challenges than just the ones we read about.

We watch these athletes stand on a podium and accept the medals with tears in their eyes as their national anthem plays. What a great feeling it must be for these men and women to know the triumph of endurance. What we get to see is the fruit of their labor. I imagine there were many days they woke up early, most likely sore and tired from the day before. While their hearts and mind dreamed of a gold medal, I'm sure their bodies were telling them the process is too much. Yet here they are, persevering and competing.

I hope you all enjoyed watching the Olympic games as much as I did. Not necessarily for the sport (table tennis anyone?) but for the display of how powerful the human will to endure and persevere can be.

We all have the will power inside of us, and I hope we too endure and persevere to be what we are called to be!

Sincerely,

Jonathan Kelly

Board Minutes

August—David Pikel, CEO of NARI Headquarters, joined the meeting via Zoom and updated the Board on news from the national perspective. They have budgeted $250,000 for consumer marketing. The community service project is finished, and the chapter raised nearly $12,000 in cash which allowed us to give the Rhodes family $3,000 in VISA gift cards. One application was approved. The August 28 family picnic will be a small profit center for the chapter since it was not budgeted for in the 2021 approved budget. The Dec. 9 holiday party will also be Jan Burchett's retirement party and advance reservations will be required. The Board voted unanimously to keep committee and Board meetings hybrid with the option of Zooming in or attending in person. The Staffing Committee asked for a budget exception to allow for monies to pay for staffing payroll for the remainder of 2021 in light of them looking to hire a replacement for Jan Burchett.
